Dear Colleagues,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the 2023 SHAFR annual meeting. This year marks our return to both the Arlington Renaissance and a fully in-person conference. The last time we marked both was four years ago, in 2019. I suspect you are all as glad to be back as I am.

This year's Program Committee co-chairs, Jeannette Eileen Jones and Jason Parker, along with a stellar seventeen-member committee (listed elsewhere in this program) and conference assistant Margaret Gregory, have assembled an amazing slate of sessions replete with SHAFR veterans, first-time attendees, and everyone in between. As befits an international organization like ours, the program includes more than sixty participants working outside the United States. Thanks, one and all, for sharing your work and expertise. Thanks also to SHAFR Executive Director Amy Sayward and Conference Consultant Kaete O'Connell, whose grace and efficiency throughout the planning of the conference have been invaluable. The conference has also been made possible through the support of a dozen-plus external sponsors. I hope that you will thank all those involved with putting this year's conference together when you see them in Arlington.

The more than eighty sessions that comprise this year's program run the gamut, from presentations of new scholarship and focused considerations of recent books to roundtables on key figures and concepts as well as tribute panels honoring the work of past leaders in the field. Panels cover all time periods, regions of the world, and conceptual approaches to the field and provide an excellent snapshot of the breadth, depth, and vitality of the work being done by SHAFR members. We have also planned a timely plenary session on declassification, records management, and access, issues at the core of our work in the field. There truly is something for everyone on this year's program.

Lest our time together in Arlington be all work and no play, the Program Committee has also planned a number of exciting social opportunities. A welcome reception follows the plenary session on Thursday evening; a Potomac River cruise is planned for Friday evening; and we'll conclude the conference on Saturday afternoon with a group outing to watch the Washington Nationals take on the Florida Marlins.

At the risk of putting the cart before the horse, I'd like to take this opportunity to remind you that the 2024 SHAFR Conference will be held at the University of Toronto, 13-15 June. Please watch for the Call for Papers in the coming months.

In the meantime, welcome to SHAFR 2023. I look forward to reconnecting with many long-time friends in Arlington and to making new ones. Hope to see you there.

All the best,

Ann Heiss

TRUMAN LIBRARY INSTITUTE RESEARCH GRANTS & AWARDS

Applications are now open to support research at the Harry S. Truman Presidential Library and Museum in Independence, Missouri. Grants, awards, and fellowships provide assistance to emerging and established scholars whose contributions illuminate the critical issues of Truman's presidency and legacy.

★ DISSERTATION YEAR FELLOWSHIPS

Application Deadline: February 1

Up to two $16,000 Fellowships are given annually to support graduate students working on some aspect of Truman's life and career or of the public and foreign policy issues that were prominent during the Truman years. Recent recipients include Ian Seavey and Dexter Fergie.

★ RESEARCH GRANTS

Application Deadline: April 1 and October 1

Grants of up to $2,500 are awarded twice annually to offset the cost of conducting research at the Truman Library. The spring round includes one Hulston grant of up to $2,500 for a researcher who wishes to visit multiple research facilities. Recent recipients include Robert Jefferson and Elizabeth Bishop.

★ SCHOLAR'S AWARD

Application Deadline: December 15 of odd-numbered years

Grants of $30,000 are made to established post-doctoral scholars engaged in work on some aspect of Truman's life and career or of prominent public and foreign policy issues during the Truman years. Recent recipients include Ian Ona Johnson, Nathan Citino, and Anne Karalekas.

★ HARRY S. TRUMAN BOOK AWARD

Submission Deadline: January 20, 2024

The Book Award recognizes the best book published within a two-year period dealing primarily and substantially with some aspect of U.S. history between 1945 and 1953, or with Truman's life or career. Recent recipients include Christian Ostermann, Derek Leebaert, and Michael Neiberg.

Power, Politics, and the World

A book series published by the University of Pennsylvania Press

SERIES EDITORS:

Christopher R. W. Dietrich, Fordham University

Jennifer Mittelstadt, Rutgers University

Russell Rickford, Cornell University

Power, Politics, and the World showcases new stories in the fields of the history of U.S. foreign relations, international history, and transnational history. The series is motivated by a desire to pose innovative questions of power and hierarchy to the history of the United States and the world. Books in the series examine a wide range of actors on local, national, and global scales, exploring how they imagined, enacted, or resisted political, cultural, social, economic, and military influence.

SHAFR Code of Conduct

SHAFR is committed to fostering an environment free from discrimination, harassment, and retaliation. Our organization's collective professional and intellectual pursuits can only be realized when we treat one another with dignity and respect. To this end, SHAFR prohibits discrimination or harassment on the basis of sex, gender identity, gender expression, and sexual orientation, race or ethnicity, color, age, religion, disability, national origin, or immigration status. SHAFR also prohibits all forms of unwanted physical contact, including assault. The protections and prohibitions in this policy extend to any guests and members participating in SHAFR-sponsored events. All members and participants, including employees, contractors, vendors, volunteers, and guests, are expected to engage in professional and respectful behavior and to preserve common standards of professionalism.

The following policy pertains to all SHAFR activities, including events associated with SHAFR conferences and any SHAFR-related business occurring throughout the year. It encompasses interactions in person, by telephone, and by electronic communication, as well as behavior that occurs outside of official conference venues during SHAFR conferences.

Sexual Harassment. SHAFR has absolutely no tolerance for sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is behavior (speech or actions) in formal or informal settings that demeans, humiliates, or threatens an individual on the basis of their sex, gender, gender expression, or sexual orientation. Sexual harassment can also take nonsexual forms and includes discriminatory remarks or actions based on an individual's sex, gender, gender expression, or sexual orientation. Sexual harassment includes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal comment or physical conduct of a sexual nature, including situations in which the request or conduct involves any implied or expressed promise of professional reward for complying; or the request or conduct involves any implied or expressed threat of reprisal or denial of opportunity for refusing to comply; or the request or conduct results in what reasonably may be perceived as a hostile or intimidating environment. Sexual harassment does not refer to occasional compliments of a socially acceptable nature or consensual personal and social relationships without discriminatory effect. It refers to behavior that reasonably situated persons would regard as not welcome and as personally intimidating, hostile, or offensive. According to U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) guidelines, the victim of harassment can be anyone affected by the offensive conduct, not just the individual at whom the conduct is directed.

Sexual Misconduct. SHAFR has absolutely no tolerance for other forms of sexual misconduct. Sexual misconduct is a broad term encompassing any unwelcome behavior of a sexual nature that is committed without consent or by force, intimidation, coercion, or manipulation. Sexual misconduct can be committed by a person of any gender, and it can occur between people of the same or different genders. Sexual misconduct may vary in its severity and consists of a range of behavior or attempted behavior. It can occur between strangers or acquaintances, including people involved in an intimate or sexual relationship. It includes but is not limited to: sexual assault (a continuum of conduct from forcible intercourse to nonphysical forms of pressure that compel individuals to engage in sexual activity against their will); sexual exploitation (taking nonconsensual, unjust, or abusive sexual advantage of another person); and sexual intimidation (threatening another person that you will commit a sex act against them or engaging in indecent exposure).

Consent. For the purposes of this policy, consent is a freely and affirmatively communicated willingness to participate in particular sexual activity or behavior, expressed either by words or clear, unambiguous actions. Consent can be withdrawn at any time, and, by definition, a person is incapable of consent if the person is unable to understand the facts, nature, extent, or implications of the situation and/or if the person is incapacitated, which includes incapacitation by extreme intoxication, drug use, mental disability, or being unconscious. Critically, the person initiating a particular sexual activity or behavior bears the responsibility of receiving consent. In examining the existence of consent under this policy, SHAFR will seek to determine, in view of the totality of the circumstances, whether a reasonable person would conclude that the recipient of the initiated sexual activity or behavior was (a) capable of consenting and (b) affirmatively communicated consent to the sexual activity or behavior at issue by words or clear, unambiguous actions.

Harassment. SHAFR has absolutely no tolerance for harassment. Harassment is behavior (speech or actions) in formal or informal settings that demeans, humiliates, or threatens an individual on the basis of their race or ethnicity, color, age, religion, disability, national origin, or immigration status. Harassment can include discriminatory remarks or actions based on an individual's race or ethnicity, color, age, religion, disability, national origin, or immigration status. Harassment refers to behavior that reasonably situated persons would regard as not welcome and as personally intimidating, hostile, or offensive. According to U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) guidelines, the victim of harassment can be anyone affected by the offensive conduct, not just the individual at whom the conduct is directed.

Retaliation against a complainant of sexual harassment or other forms of sexual misconduct a person who reports harassment, sexual misconduct, or other behavior that violates these policies is also a violation of these policies.

Members and other conference attendees should be aware that their home institution's policies (such as Title IX) may require them to report allegations of sexual harassment or other forms of sexual misconduct involving people affiliated with their institution. SHAFR reserves the right to respond truthfully to authorized inquiries received from a member's employer concerning allegations, proceedings, and outcomes under this policy.

This policy will be clearly and prominently displayed on the SHAFR website. All participants in the annual meeting and anyone obtaining or renewing a SHAFR membership will be required during the registration process formally to acknowledge the policy and their responsibility to abide by it.

Complaints

SHAFR will designate a complaints team that will be available to receive complaints from, describe reporting procedures to, provide advice on resources to, and discuss issues with participants in any SHAFR-sanctioned activity who have experienced or witnessed violations of this policy. The team's contact information will be made available on the SHAFR website and in annual meeting registration materials. Neither the team nor any other SHAFR official can provide legal advice to those who make reports under this policy.

Members, staff, or guests who in good faith believe that they have been aggrieved by or witnessed conduct prohibited by this policy should contact the SHAFR complaints team. SHAFR will review each report and endeavor to respond proportionally and fairly. Responses may range from informal resolutions agreed to by the parties to investigations conducted by trained external investigators. SHAFR reserves the right to take interim steps during an event, such as removing the policy violator from the conference or a narrowly tailored "no contact" directive between the parties.

Annual Report

The Executive Director will prepare an annual report of complaints or other evidence of policy violations (with no names used). The report will be circulated to the full Council at the January meeting and made available to the membership on request. The report may also identify how many reports were received, the forms of discrimination and misconduct alleged, how long the matter took to be resolved, and the outcome.

Some text in this policy is adapted from documents produced by the American Historical Association, the Shakespeare Association of America, the Society of Biblical Literature, and the University of Iowa.
